—TUESDAY, JAN. 9, 1930.—

He laughs best who laughs last.
The Democrats will laugh in about thirty days.

Mark Hanna has rented the Hobart house and moved next door to White House.

We shall soon see whether or not the Goebel bill will stop fraud and corruption in Kentucky.

Hon. Jim Rogers, of this county, was drawn on two of the legislative contests from Louisville.

The groundhog will come out Feb. 2, just about the right time for Taylor to use the same hole.

By all means let Whallen's number be "559," when he gets where names do not count for much.

Robert T. Lincoln and Norman B. Ream, executors of the estate of George M. Pullman, were allotted as compensation for their services the sum of $425,000.

There are three heats in this gubernatorial race. The Democrats won the November heat, the Republicans the one in December and the January heat is now on.

Rev. J. K. Peck, an aged Methodist preacher of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., fell dead in his pulpit on the night of Dec. 31st, while preaching on the blessings of the closing year.

The more the boxes were shaken the worse it was for the Republicans. In the Senate where Marshall superintended the shaking, the Republicans out of six draws didn't get a smell.

Atchison Kan., has a hotel for hoboes, where a tramp may get two meals and a bed for the night. Included, by working three hours on the city track pile. About fifteen are lodged every night.

With four doctors in the Senate and several in the House the Democrats ought to be able to give the Republicans some medicine that will stop fraud and bribery and save Kentucky to Bryan this year.

There is some doubt about which date is the proper one, so to cover accidents Blackburn will be elected to-day and again next Tuesday at which Bryan will be there to see it well done.

Editor Bennett Henderson has sold his interest in the Princeton Banner to Mr. Chas. S. Morehead, who will be the new editor. Mr.
George Catlett retains his interest in the paper.

Western Kentucky journalism has had a considerable shaking up quite recently. In Christian and 3 adjoining counties there have been newspaper transfers, veterans like Geo. H. Pike, Bennett Henderson and Jas. F. Rogers retiring from the business.

Maybe the Republicans in the House were thinking of Dr. Harrel when they insisted upon having their medicine well shaken before taking. As the doctor is on one of the committees, his next prescription should be "absolute rest and quiet" for the whole Taylor gang.

The letter H. seems to be especially prominent with the Republicans at Frankfort. Their bribery methods were exposed by Senator Harrel and the briber is defended by Hallam and Hardin.
Howard is their spokesman in the Senate and Haswell in the House.

Druggist Lewis L. Elgin, of this city, went to school at Ogden College with Dr. Harrel and he says Whallen made a big mistake in picking him out for an "easy subject." As a schoolboy Harrel was as sharp as a tack and led his class. He was just the right man to be entrusted with the work of en-trapping and exposing the Louisville corruptionist who managed the late publication campaign.

By a vote of 4 to 3 the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections decided to make an adverse report on the resolution to seat Mr.
Quay. Those for the resolution were Senators Hoar, Chandler and Mc-Comas, while those against him were Senators Caffery, Burrows Pettus and Harris. Senators Turley and Pritchard were paired. The committee took up the case of Senator-elect Clark, of Montana, but adjourned after hearing the preliminary statements.

The "bribery box" number 559 was taken to Frankfort Friday upon an order of court, by the Trust company's officers, and inspected by the grand jury. It is said that the money was found in the box just as Senator Harrel described—four $1000 bills and five $100 bills. No indictment has yet been returned.

Mr. Geo. H. Pike, for fifteen years one of the publishers of the Cadiz Record, has sold his half interest in the paper to Mr. Geo. L. Smith.
Mr. Wat McKinney, and old veteran in the newspaper business, will be the editor in the future. Mr.
Pike has not made known his future plans.

STEVENSON-QUICK.

Well Known Couple Will Wed in Clarksville Tomorrow.

Mr. Frank M. Stevenson, formerly of Gracey, but now of Clarksville, and Miss Jane H. Quick, daughter of Mr. Abe Quick, of the latter place, will be married tomorrow.

The bride-to-be is a native of Trigg county, and is a very pretty and accomplished young lady.

Mr. Stevenson is a young man of much promise. He holds a responsible position with the L. & N. railroad company.

Both young people have a host of friends in Christian county who wish them a happy voyage over life's rough seas.

CAPTURED IN CLARKSVILLE.

Horrible Crime Charged Against a Trenton Negro.

Clarksville, Tenn., Jan. 6.—Jos.
Quisenberry, a negro, aged forty years, whose home is at Trenton, Ky., is in jail for a crime that has just become known, although it was committed several days ago. He is charged with criminal assault on the nine-year-old daughter of Martha Jones, colored. The child is in a critical condition as the result of her assailant's terrible treatment.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THE HIGHLAND CLANS.

Cattle Raiding an Important Cause of the Famous Feuds.

The wealth of the clans consisted not in silver and gold, but in flocks and herds, says the Gentleman's Magazine. Some of the latter were bred in districts from which they had been forcibly "lifted," but their possessors would point to the consideration that their late owners probably held four-footed property of which they also had by similar means forcibly deprived their original owners. And thus the practice of "cattle purloining" among the clans was based upon a give-and-take principle, which, however, was characterized by a maximum of "taking" and a minimum of "giving." The cattle forays, or creachs, as they were called, were ordered by the chiefs, and were, naturally enough, regarded as a declaration of enmity against the clan thus despoiled. They were conducted with great secrecy, and bloodshed was if possible avoided. When, however, as was frequently the case, these predatory incursions were accompanied by loss of life, the feud became interminable until ample vengeance had been taken. Revenge was inculcated as a duty, the neglect of which was accounted a disgrace to the living and a dishonor to the dead.

But cattle raiding was not the only, or, indeed, the primary, cause of the feuds which for centuries made the highlands the seat of internecine warfare between the clans. The most trifling incidents generally operated in the same direction. An insult, sometimes a fancied insult, was sufficient to set the heather on fire.
Nothing more clearly exemplifies the relationship which existed between the chief and his clansmen than the fact that the most unpardonable insult which could be offered to a clan was to speak in disrespectful terms of its chief. That insult could only be wiped out in blood, and as a rule no time was lost in so expurgating it. It sometimes happened that a clan, smarting under an affront, was too weak to take its revenge in the only way which was open to it. It bided its time, however, and sooner or later tasted the sweets of revenge. The clans had long memories for injuries sustained, and the germ of implacable hatred was often transmitted from father to son, growing in intensity until finally extinguished in propitiatory blood.

A BUSY MAN.

How Mr. Chamberlain, the British Colonial Minister, Works.

A glance at Mr. Chamberlain's room in the colonial office will reveal part of the secret of his power of getting through work. There is nothing superfluous, nothing out of place; and every morning when he comes to business his desk is absolutely clear. Mr.
Chamberlain works in a large room looking on the great quadrangle round which are built the foreign, colonial, home and Indian offices. He often lunches in his room when too occupied to go to his club, the Athenaeum. Sitting at his large desk at the further end of the room, he has accorded interviews to men of all nationalities and all colors. Mr. Chamberlain's morning at the colonial office is taken up in dealing with a great mass of papers. In addition, he has to give verbal instructions to his subordinates and to see a large number of important people. In the afternoon he has to go down to the house of commons during the session, where as minister he must attend daily to answer questions, besides transacting his general parliamentary business.
To his private room in the house of commons papers follow him in boxes, labeled with slips of paper, red, green or white, according to the urgency of their contents. Nor is his day's work ended there. At midnight, when he goes home, he finds papers at his private house; and even when he is away from London they arrive with regularity by post or by special messenger. In fact, Mr. Chamberlain cannot escape them unless he were to disappear altogether.—New Penny Magazine.

Farm Worked by Electricity.

One of the most wonderful farms in the world is situated in Canada.
Its peculiarity lies in the fact that everything is worked by electricity.
Two waterfalls within the bounds of the farm, some 60 feet and 160 feet high, furnish the motive power, a central power house being erected near, and the current is transmitted by wire to every available place on the farm.
The churns and other necessary implements have electric motor attachments. A motor of ten horse power works a mowing machine, and another works a log saw, while the house, barns and grounds of the farm are illuminated by the electric light.

No Only Reports What Has Been Said Around The Globe.

It has been been demonstrated repeatedly in every state in the Union and in many foreign countries that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a certain preventive and cure for croup.
It has become the universal remedy for that disease. M. V. Fisher of Liberty, W. Va., only reports what has been said around the globe when he writes, "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family for several years and always with perfect success. We believe that it is not only the best cough remedy, but that it is a sure cure for croup. It has saved the lives of our children a number of times." This remedy is for sale by R. C. Hardwick, Druggist.

Men who claim to be paramount are Having a Great Run on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Manager Martin, of the Pierson drug store, informs us that he is having a great run on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He sells five bottles of that medicine to one of any other kind, and it gives great satisfaction.
These days of la grippe there is nothing like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to stop the cough, heal up the sore throat and lungs and give relief within a very short time. The sales are growing, and all who try it are pleased with its prompt action.—South Chicago Daily Colomet. For sale by R.

He Had Cause to Rejoice.

"A young man came into our store yesterday suffering from a severe attack of cramp colic," writes B. F.
Hess, miller and general merchant, Dickey's Mountain, Pa. "He had tried various home remedies without relief. As I had used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I gave him a dose and it soon brought him out all right. I never saw a fellow so rejoiced." Sold by R. C. Hardwick, Druggist.
